United church gets set for addition

Congregation pledges funds to add more seats, relieve overcrowding

Haliburton United Church will be expanded this fall if the congregation can raise the estimated $55,000 to $60,000 that will be needed.

Plans call for the entrance to be enlarged and extended to provide more seating for the growing congregation. As well, the adjacent Christian Education building will get a new roof, and a covered walkway will link it with the church at ground level.

The expansion has been planned by architect Gordon Smeaton to preserve the simple "carpenters' Gothic" style of the exterior.

Work toward the expansion began this spring, when concern about crowded conditions led to the formation of a planning committee with members of the Session, stewards, Sunday School and UCW. The committee considered a number of options, including an extra service, adding a balcony, closed circuit television, hiring a second pastor, an earlier service with lay preachers, and Sunday School classes from the beginning of the service, but decided expansion and renovation was the best course of action.

A building committee was then established and the present plans drawn up.

Specifications have been sent to three local builders, and tenders are expected soon.

Money for the work will come from church members.

"We're hoping that the basic funding will be from members and friends" Reverend John James said in an interview Monday. "We want to have the bulk of the money either donated or pledged before we begin."

Pledges were received at a Covenant service July 17 and if enough money is committed, the work will be carried out this fall, although no date has been set.

James attributes the church's continued growth to a number of factors, including the work of former pastor Don Nicholson, under whose leadership the congregation enlarged.

"Generally speaking, within our society, many people are taking another look at the Christian faith," James said. "They're finding out that in spite of the press reports of the 60's, God is not dead."

Lake levels fall markedly in heat wave

Hot, dry weather is causing water levels in local lakes to fall markedly, but a Trent Severn Waterway official says he doesn't think the problem will be as acute as it was in 1975 and 1977.

Bruce Kitchen, water control engineer at the system's Peterborough office, said the lakes are the lowest they have been "in three or four years" for this time in July, but that prospects are not as grim as they were in '75 and '77, when boats and docks were left high and dry.

"I don't think it's likely to be that bad this year," Kitchen said.

Flow down the Otonabee River and Trent canal have been at the "operational minimum" of 600 cubic feet per second, for several weeks and they are expected to stay at that level even if the dry weather continues. Flow could be reduced even more, but according to Kitchen "the amount that you could reduce it by isn't enough to matter."

Most of the decline in the system's lakes is the result of evaporation, not drawdown, Kitchen said.

At the moment, lakes in Haliburton County are at 79 per cent storage capacity, a drop of 4.5 per cent since July 11 and about one per cent since the 1970-79 average for the date.

But levels have been much lower than in the past. In 1958 on the same date levels had fallen to 53 per cent of capacity, and in 1931 they fell to 41 per cent.

If the dry conditions end, levels could rise again, but "it takes quite a bit of rain" to make a noticeable difference, Kitchen said.

If precipitation totalled two inches over a week, lakes would begin to refill, but if only the normal half an inch fell over consecutive seven day periods, it would take "several weeks" for lake levels to rise.

"Thunderstorms don't seem to do anything helpful either," Kitchen said, largely because they are too localized to effect the system as a whole.

If there is no change in the weather, levels could fall to "the lowest in quite a few years" according to Kitchen. But he noted that the dry conditions have to end sometime, and that statistically, the chance of significant rainfall increases with each day.

There's nothing like the sound of a pipe band to make a parade come alive, and that's just what these Banerfoot Legionnaires did during the Haliburton Legion carnival parade last Wednesday. The two day carnival attracted a good crowd and featured a midway, a dance and other attractions.

Midnight Madness arrives

Local merchants offer crazy discounts this Friday

Bargain hunters be prepared: local merchants are getting ready to tempt you with the biggest array of top quality merchandise at the craziest prices you'll see this year. This Friday, stores in Haliburton and the surrounding area will throw open their doors for a two hour Midnight Madness Sale. It's the third year the sale has been held, and it promises to be the best yet.

Last year the streets thronged with people and there were lineups to take advantage of the exceptional savings. This year there should be even more for you to choose from, so why not plan now to be on hand.

Some 29 merchants will be involved in Midnight Madness this year, and all of them are offering some unbeatable prices.

As in the past, stores that are normally open Friday night until nine will operate during regular hours. They'll close at nine p.m. to get ready for the sale, and will reopen at 10 p.m. The sale will last through to midnight.

Almost every store on the village main street is taking part in Midnight Madness '83, and in addition, businesses on the outskirts of town, in West Guilford, Eagle Lake and Haliburton Lake will be sharing in the fun.

The West Guilford Shopping Centre is a participant once again, as is Eagle Lake Store. Haliburton Lake residents join in the sale by visiting Fort Irwin Marina.

Within the village, Kennedy Surplus, Haliburton Lumber, Haliburton Marine and Newbatt's Furniture and Appliances will share in the main street excitement with an impressive selection of discounts.

A special 16 page advertising supplement is included in this week's edition of The Haliburton County Echo in conjunction with the Midnight Madness Sale. In it you'll find details of the bargains that will be offered by participating merchants. Read it carefully, make your list and then come out and join the fun.

To help make the evening even more exciting, the Echo is offering shoppers a chance to win one of nine prizes valued at approximately $50 each. Customers will get a ticket on the Echo draw with each purchase at participating stores. Just fill in the ticket and drop it in the Echo draw boxes you'll see displayed at each location and you could be a lucky winner.

Draw for the prizes will be held after the close of the sale. Winners will be notified by telephone and must claim their prizes from the merchants concerned.

Haliburton's Sky Slider is also taking part in Midnight Madness again this year, and is offering half price rides from 10 p.m. to Midnight.

Shoppers are urged to come dressed in night attire to add to the fun. It could also mean money in your pocket, since two cash prizes of $25 each will be awarded to the two people who in the opinion of the judge have the funniest costumes. Judging will take place at 11 p.m. in the small square between Radio Shack and Steinberg's Fruit Market.

Come early, stay late and have fun. See you at the sale.

Kinmount citizens ready to propose improvements

Kinmount citizens have formed a number of committees to plan and coordinate improvements to the community.

At a meeting Monday night, area residents decided to set up a Kinmount Chamber of Commerce, a promotion and advertising committee, a community improvement committee and a recreation committee.

Some 16 people are currently serving on a coordinating committee to get the groups started.

Guy Scott, spokesman for the main body, said "we're not expecting to set the world on fire. But we think these committees can help our community."

The drive to set up a coordinating committee began several months ago when the Peterborough County Board of Education proposed changes to the community's school. Local residents wanted to fight the changes, believing they were a first step toward closing the school, but quickly discovered that there was no local organization to present citizens' views.

Although the coordinating group "is still in its infancy" according to Scott, there is general agreement that promotion of Kinmount "is a big priority".

The committees established at the Monday meeting will come up with specific ideas about needed improvements, and will present them at a joint meeting in approximately a month, said Scott.

The group is not expected to bring forward proposals that would be expensive to implement. Rather, the focus will be on drawing the community together for a common purpose.

"We're not going to raise a whole lot of money," Scott said. "That's not our job. Our job is to think of ways to improve Kinmount."

Dry conditions a fire threat

Local Ministry of Natural Resources fire crews have fought 17 blazes in the last 10 days, and if dry conditions continue, more fires are likely.

District fire official Bob Musclow said all of the fires were promptly reported, and none were serious. Most were caused by careless campers who did not properly extinguish their camp fires.

Lack of rainfall has made the fire danger very high, said Musclow, "almost to the extreme."

Fire permits have not been suspended as yet, but the ministry is trying to restrict day burning, except where it is necessary for commercial operations.

There are currently 15 men on fire duty, with five man crews stationed in Haliburton, Minden and Gooderham. When they're not busy with local fires the men have been working elsewhere in the province. The Gooderham crew was in Sudbury recently, the Haliburton crew in Sault Lookout, and the Minden crew at Tweed.

In addition to the full time crews, some 100 volunteer fire wardens are stationed throughout the district, and many ministry employees have fire training, enabling them to assist if serious fires break out.

While most of the local fires have been small, Minden crews have had to quell a four acre blaze in Bexley Township and a 3.5 acre fire in Digby Township recently.

With no end for the dry conditions in sight, residents and visitors are urged to use extreme caution with fire.

Three hurt when light plane crashes

Three people were injured Sunday when a light plane crashed in Crozier Lake about eight miles east of Dorset.

Pilot/owner Manfred Humphries of Toronto lifted off and banked, turning 180 degrees before insufficient airspeed caused the aircraft to clip the tops of trees on the shoreline.

The plane crashed into the water, resulting in extensive damage to both wings, the cockpit, cowlings and floats.

Pilot Humphries and passengers Marilyn Fryer and Isla Humphries, also of Toronto, suffered lacerations and sprains in the crash. They were taken to Huntsville hospital for treatment.

Federal officials were on the scene Monday to investigate the crash.

Man critically injured as motorcycle leaves highway

A Toronto man was in critical condition and on life support systems in a metro hospital Monday following a motorcycle accident on Highway 35 Sunday.

Mark A. McCune, 28 of Willowdale was northbound and rounding a curve when his motorcycle left the highway, contacted the east shoulder and continued into the ditch, where it flipped over and landed on top of him.

Minden ambulance attendants transported the victim to Lindsay hospital. From there he was air lifted to Toronto General Hospital by helicopter ambulance.

Police say damage to the 1982 Honda motorcycle was minimal.

Man to stand trial in Fall for first degree murder

The man accused of murdering another man at a Bob Lake cottage in Anson Township earlier this year will be sent to trial.

Following a preliminary hearing in Lindsay last week, Kevin Humphrey of Toronto was held in custody to stand trial on a charge of first degree murder.

Humphrey is accused of killing another Toronto man, Charles Palmer.

No date for the trial has been set, but it is expected to get underway before the end of the year.

Minden OPP officers investigated the crime, and are working with Metro Toronto Police in gathering evidence.

Echo office open Monday

The office of the Haliburton County Echo will be open for business on the Civic Holiday, Monday, August 1.

As usual, all display and classified advertising must be received at the office before 5 p.m.

This week only, the office will also be open with special discounts of new and renewal subscriptions between 10 p.m. and midnight Friday, July 29 as part of the community wide Midnight Madness Sale.

The office is closed on Saturdays.

We hope you have an enjoyable, safe holiday week-end.

Weekend full of activities

The August 1 Civic holiday weekend is always a busy time in Haliburton County, but this year should be one of the busiest ever, especially if you like to take part in community events.

All across the county community groups and organizations are holding special activities designed to appeal to many visitors, cottagers and local residents.

Action gets underway tonight (Wednesday) in Minden with the kickoff parade for the Minden Rotary Club's summer days carnival. Featured will be all the traditional attractions, with a Bavarian Garden and live music in the arena Wednesday and Thursday nights.

On Friday the annual Heineken Yard Road race will take place in Minden. It begins at Camp Onondaga and follows a 4.5 mile course to the town centre. Entry fee is $5, with proceeds going to help support the Canadian bobsled team, who'll be on hand to push their sled for the last mile of the course.

Saturday is jam-packed with events in all corners of the county. In Gooderham its Horseshoe Days, a popular festival that features dancing at the community centre Friday and Saturday night, a canoe race Saturday, the Horseshoe tournament, races, games, bake and craft sales, a talent contest, and on Sunday, a demolition derby, wet tee shirt contest and mens and womens tug-of-wars.

In Minden there'll be three wheel racing at the fair grounds presented by the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. Action will begin at 12:30 p.m. with registration beginning at 11 a.m.

Dorset will be the focus of a Pioneer Days festival that will last all through the first week of August. Many events are planned, with proceeds going toward a community centre building fund.

Four wheel drive racing should provide plenty of excitement in the Wilberforce area over the weekend as the Wilberforce Mud and Run club presents the second annual club challenge. The event is sanctioned by the provincial four wheel drive association, and will include sand racing, obstacle course racing and wheel to wheel racing. Admission is $4 for each day. Gates at Bill's Hills just west of the village open at 10 a.m., with racing from noon Saturday and 11 a.m. Sunday.

Ontario's newest municipality, Cardiff town is planning a two day festival over the weekend. The programme begins at 10 a.m. Saturday with a pancake breakfast, a flea market, armed forces fly-past, an auction, a whole steer barbecue, nail driving contests, a horse pull, a beauty pageant, a dance and a fireworks display, to name just some of the activities that will take place. On Sunday there'll be an other beef barbecue, an invitational tug-of-war, pole climbign, log sawing, a dunking pool, rodeo games and other events.

Local lake associations will also be active over the weekend. Ken-nis Lake cottagers are holding their annual regatta on Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. with swimming races and other events. At one p.m. there'll be boat racing, which is always a crowd pleaser. Everitt's Marina at the eastern end of the lake will be the focal point for the day-long get together.

On Sunday the Haliburton Lake cottagers will gather for their annual regatta, and it too will include boat racing and other water related activities.

These are the main events, but there are sure to be many other activities taking place in your area, so you'll have plenty to choose from if you want to add a little variety to your weekend.

Rotary Carnival goes Wednesday

The streets of Haliburton village will take on a carnival air next Wednesday and Thursday, August 3 and 4 as the Haliburton Rotary Club stages its annual summer carnival.

Activities will get underway Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. when the midway opens with all the usual attractions for children.

Then at 5 p.m. local fitness enthusiasts will have a chance to test their conditioning program over a 10 kilometre distance in the second annual Haliburton/Labatts Fun and Fitness Run. The event will start and finish at the town dock on Head Lake, and will follow a route to the Haliburton Highlands Golf club on South Kashagawigamog Lake Road and return. Entry fee is $2 and runners can register on race day at the information caboose between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

The always popular beef barbecue returns this year to the ball diamond between 5:30 and 8 p.m.

At 6:30 p.m. the Toronto Star Robot will make its way down main street to lead off the parade, the theme of which this year is Haliburton: a Four Seasons Play-ground.

There'll be bingo in the Legion Hall starting at 8 p.m. and at the same time a dance will get underway in the curling rink, with music by DJ Ed Whiteway.

Rounding out the evening will be the Labatt's Arm Wrestling competition for cash prizes and trophies in four classes, beginning at 9:30 p.m. in the curling rink.

The Midway will reopen Thursday afternoon, and at 3 p.m. a horseshoe tournament will get underway at Head Lake Park. Participants must register by August 2 and should contact Jim Scheffee or John Wilson.

At 6:30 p.m. there'll be outdoor music at the bandshell leading up to the spectacular water ski show on Head Lake, which gets underway at 7 p.m. and is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

Ending off the evening will be a dance at the curling rink to the music of Six Pack.

At 10:30 p.m. some lucky ticket holder will become the owner of a 1983 Chevrolet Camaro in the draw.

Stanhope Day a success

Stanhope citizens came out in large numbers on Saturday to help make the community's annual Fun Day a success once again. There was a full slate of activities, and participation in most events was enthusiastic.

The horseshoe tournament drew a strong field of competitors, but when the last shoe had been pitched, Bruce Armstrong and John Phillips had amassed the most points to take top prize.

The children's races also proved popular, especially since as always, everyone who took part got a ribbon for their effort.

In the three and under class, Tricia Danie was first. Antony Mistrone was the quickest in the six and under race. The seven to nine class was won by Trevor Mielke, while Craig Bain crossed the line first in the 9 to 11 category. The 14 and over category was won by Jeff Ellis, with an unknown dad providing plenty of laughs for spectators and earning third place.

The dog show was also a crowd pleaser, as it has been each year the Fun Day has been held. As usual, Minden veterinarian Dr. Peter Bennett was on hand for the judging, and he had a tough task.

The smallest dog in the show was Butts, shown by Kim Johnson. Largest dog was a St. Bernard known as Hilda shown by a Ms. Shepard. Hilda also had the longest tail.

The shortest tail belonged to Heidi, who was shown by Daun

Johnson. Kelly had the longest ears, earning a ribbon for owner Debbie Deuries.

Heidi was also the smallest dog in the show, while Kahn, owned by C. Garland was judged the Stanhope Mutt award winner.

Kim Johnson's Butts was the best dressed dog in the show.

The prize for the best overall was provided by Coboconk Feed Mill.

In the wheels on parade competition, Antony Mistrone was the winner, with Laura Mistrone second. Jason Harrison and Jamie Brown tied for third.

The side of beef draw was won by B. Moffat of Beech Lake with ticket number 629. A second prize was also awarded, and it went to Larry Pink of Brady Lake with ticket number 669.

Other events throughout the day were well attended, including the bingo craft and bake sales, seniors tea and the dance in the evening. Door prizes for the dance were supplied by Jim and Bob Merideth, and by Carnarvon Lumber.

Saberne Prate was on hand once again to put on an exciting display of model rocketry, and the township's firemen demonstrated the use of various types of fire extinguishers.

All in all it was a pleasant day, and one that left visitors looking forward to next year's event.

First step

The village of Kinmount is in a unique position. Its residents, and the people who frequent its businesses, must contend with the confusing and sometimes frustrating realities of bordering on three counties and four townships. In the past, that has sometimes left Kinmount people wondering just who to turn to when they wanted something done. Now, however, local residents have decided to get together for the common purpose of improving the community. It is a move that could pay off handsomely.

Kinmount is an attractive community, but it has more often than not been a place to pass through on your way somewhere else. Except for the annual fall fair, which has a well deserved reputation as one of the best of its kind in Ontario, the community has had little to offer the casual visitor. That could change, however, if area citizens can bring about improvements and tie them in to a promotional program that will make Kinmount a little better known.

The committees that were formed at a meeting Monday night will have a difficult task. But if enthusiasm remains high, there is a good chance that local people will be able to create a stronger, more interesting community.

And that is a goal worth working toward.

Moving on

Members of Haliburton United Church are getting ready to expand their facility. If all goes according to plan, the entrance will be enlarged to provide more seating and an above-ground link will be made between the church and the Christian education building, which will also get a new, peaked roof.

There are two reasons for the community to be pleased with the church's plans. Firstly, the fact that an expansion is necessary proves that the parish is flourishing, and that matters of the spirit have not lost their importance. Secondly, the expansion will be carried out with donated funds, proving that people are still willing to dig deep and make sacrifices to help finance worthwhile projects.

The planned expansion represents a step forward for the church and its supporters. We wish them well.

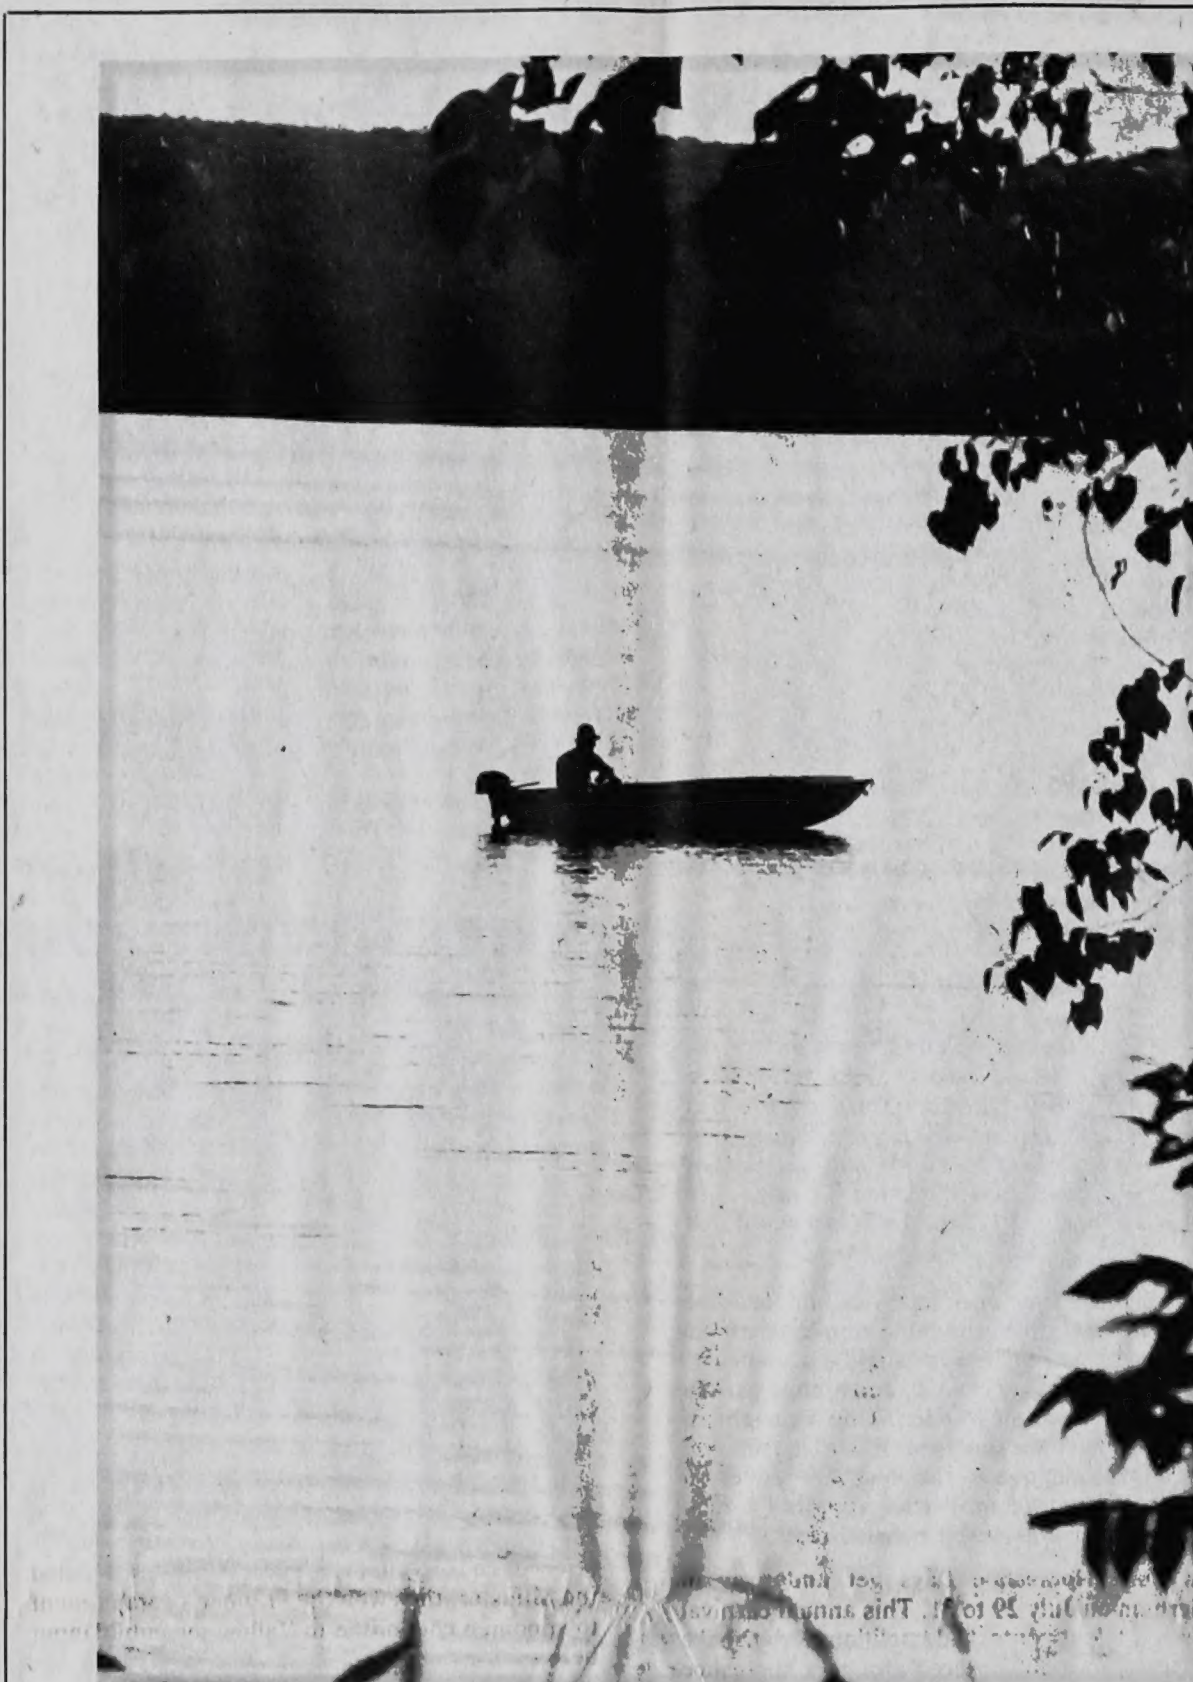

It's important

Minden and Haliburton residents are being asked to take part in a community crime prevention program known as Neighbourhood Watch. Under the scheme, local people are organized into blocks and districts and instructed on how to watch out for crime in their neighbourhood. It is a timely idea that deserves the community's support.

Too often, people are reluctant to become involved if they see activity that appears suspicious. Instead of telephoning the police for what may turn out to be nothing significant, they turn their back and choose not to see. If the neighbourhood watch program is implemented, local people will be urged to let the police know about anything that appears unusual. The police can then check it out and with luck, nip crime in the bud.

Too often police are called in after the fact. With more community involvement, local citizens can go a long way toward making the police a more effective force in preventing crime rather than in solving it.

Read the Neighbourhood Watch brochure when it comes to your door, and send the reply coupon to the local OPP detachment. It's important.

To the Editor:

So many times events of importance go unnoticed or unpublished that I hope to use your newspaper to tell of an incident that took place at 4:45 a.m. Sunday morning, July 17, 1983.

A car accident occurred on Highway 503, approximately one mile east of Norland, when the car smashed into a tree, resulting in one young man being thrown out and the other trapped in the vehicle. Mr. Elmore Doner who lives nearby heard the crash and upon his arrival on the scene, found the engine already on fire. Using unknown strength and much effort he managed to haul the young man from under the dash and out through the open window of the jammed door. When the Norland Fire Department arrived the car was fully ablaze from motor to trunk. Two ambulance crews removed the victims from the scene, both of whom survived.

However, had it not been for Mr. Doner's quick action, the one man would not have survived the fire.

The Laxton Township Fire Chief, Jim Boyce is making an effort to see that Mr. Doner will have well-deserved recognition for his heroic deed in saving this young man's life.

To the Editor:

Even if the Kanawa International Canoe Museum stays in Haliburton County it will not give this area the boost it needs. What it needs is better promotion of its assets.

Do you realize how few people outside of this area are aware of the existence of an International Canoe Museum in Ontario? And better still, how many know where Haliburton County is?

The Highlands have always had the potential of becoming a major North American tourist area, as prosperous as any. Unfortunately, however, the attitude towards tourism in this area is far too smug, unimaginative and short-sighted. As long as this situation prevails, no real tourism growth can be expected. Chances are that a few movable attractions still within the county will be grabbed by less complacent, tourism-promoting neighbors!

Mary Cromble, Summer visitor

Notebook

by Len Pizze

Here's a familiar story:

Someone you know goes to a party on the weekend, has a few drinks, becomes happy and amusing. When the party breaks up he gets in his car to drive home. On the way he misses a turn, hits the ditch and rolls over. He scrambles out unhurt by the car is extensively damaged.

Now if you're like many people you might snicker a bit when the story gets around. No real harm done, nothing much to worry about.

Unfortunately that attitude to drinking and driving is all too common in our society. Statistics show that 30 per cent of all fatal automobile accidents involve alcohol. And in the summer time, 57 per cent of all fatalities occur on weekends. That means that if you drive on a Friday or Saturday night in Haliburton County there is a very real risk that the drivers of some of the cars coming at you are impaired.

It's a fact of life, but the question is, does it have to be? Some countries believe it doesn't, and they have taken measures to attack the problem of drinking and driving head on.

Norway is perhaps the best example of this tough approach. The legal blood alcohol limit there is .05 per cent, compared to Ontario's .08.

One drink can put you over the limit in Norway, whereas here, two drinks are considered the limit. A first offence in Norway brings an automatic 21 day jail sentence and a one year licence suspension. And the penalty applies even if there has been no accident, and no other law has been broken. There is no plea bargaining, no fine as an alternative. No consideration is given to your need to drive to earn a living either. In Norway, the innocent take priority over the irresponsible.

It's too bad Ontario hasn't seen fit to view drinking and driving as the serious offense that it really is. There is very little difference between driving a car when you're drunk and firing a shotgun in a crowded store. In both cases, innocent people may be killed or maimed. But one offense would be dealt with much more severely than the other in this province's courts.

It all comes down to this: in Norway, driving is considered a privilege that society affords to responsible citizens, a privilege that is revoked when it is abused. In Ontario, driving is treated as a right no matter how many lives are put at risk. Clearly, Norway has its priorities straight. Let's hope we can get them right also, and quickly.

Oh what a difference a year makes. It's really hard to believe that another year has passed and that we are just days away from Haliburton's third Midnight Madness Sale. Yes, this Friday night is the night, July 29 when the Haliburton County Echo along with participating merchants will be presenting the annual Midnight Madness Sale from 10 p.m. to midnight. During these two hours the participating merchants will throw open their doors of the business and present their fabulous bargains to you, the buying public. Can you remember back to last year when hundreds of people made their way into the village of Haliburton to take advantage of the bonanza of bargains that were being offered? There were bargains all over the place with line-ups trying to get into the stores. They will be doing the same thing this Friday night again and you won't want to miss the excitement. It's an evening with a two hour shopping spree where you have the opportunity to save money on many items. It also gives you the chance to meet and talk to your friends and neighbors, some of whom you have not seen for some time. In other words it's just like Saturday night used to be in those good old days gone by. Included in this week's issue of the Haliburton County Echo is the Midnight Madness Supplement with a list of all of the participating merchants and the bargains they will have to offer. Friday night as you know is an open night when the stores are open until 9 p.m. They will close for an hour to give the staff a breather, get out their specials and get ready again to open at 10 p.m. with fantastic bargains right up until midnight. Drop down and see us at the Echo office and take advantage of our half price subscription sale on new and renewal subscriptions. Be here when the doors open at 10 p.m.; remember those long line-ups last year.

For the third year in a row the Haliburton Ministerial Association is holding summer outdoor church services at the band shell at Head Lake Park on the beautiful shores of Haliburton village. Every Sunday evening starting at 7 p.m. during the summer months a minister from each of the local churches will take his turn in delivering the sermon. There is plenty of room, good music, a good message and please bring along your own folding chair or blanket. Everyone is welcome.

Friends of Keith Carnochan, a former Haliburtonian and local barber here for many years, will be glad to know that he is in good health and working in the mines in Lupin in the North West Territories. In a letter that he writes me each year Keith says that he would like to be remembered to all of his old friends and customers and may be down again to Haliburton in October. He tells me that he is barbering at the different mine sites.

Vandalism just never seems to take a holiday here in the Highlands of Haliburton. For the past several years an electric insect killer has been hanging outside Danny's Snack Bar next to the Haliburton Pharmacy on Highland Street. It's served a great purpose in getting rid of the bugs, mosquitoes or what have you. Everything was in its place until about two weeks ago and on a certain evening it was still hanging in its regular position at 2:30 a.m. well after the snack bar closed but then the owners awoke the next morning to find, to their dismay that it was missing. Apparently some person or persons took a liking to the device and while driving through town stood up on the picnic table which is located at the Snack Bar and cut it down. To many this mightn't seem like a great loss but when you consider the fact that they are worth in the neighborhood of $160 one has to stop and realize that the owners have to sell a lot of hamburgers to make up this amount.

We add our congratulations to John Beachli of Haliburton who celebrated his 40th birthday on Sunday, July 24. Yes, that's what they say. Life begins at 40.

At a recent Board of Directors meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton the following motions were passed. $115 will be donated to send a local underprivileged person to summer camp. $500 will go to help with the transportation for children with learning disabilities to Camp Tallpines. $1,200 will go to Camp Illahee for the purchase of three canoes, $452.50 to the Easter Seal Society to help send a local disabled child to Camp Merriwood and $150 will go to a blind person from the high school to help to assist in his reading. This is just a few of the wonderful things that the Rotary Club of Haliburton are doing in the community.

There is certainly plenty of things to do and see this week here in the Highlands. The Minden Rotary Club Summer Carnival is on tonight and tomorrow night (Wednesday and Thursday). The 12th annual Heineken Yard Road Race is scheduled for this Friday, July 29 at Minden. The 7.2 km (4.5 mile) run starts at 4:30 p.m. at the Onondaga Camp Gate. The finish will be at the Rockcliffe Hotel. The Gooderham Horseshoe Days will be on this coming Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 29, 30 and 31 with family run and entertainment for everyone. This Saturday and Sunday, July 30 and 31 the Wilberforce Mud and Run 4x4 Club 4 wheel drive presents it's second annual 4x4 Challenge at Wilberforce. Gates open at 10 a.m.

Tonight the annual Minden Rotary Summer Carnival will get underway featuring a kick-off parade which starts at 6 p.m. featuring The Canadian Knights Marching Bugle and Drum Corps. Everyone loves a parade and look forward to seeing this one this year. The parade has been one of the highlights of the Minden Carnival for the past several years. In keeping with the Minden Carnival theme this week we went back into our files a few years and brought out this photo showing the Cox's Apparel Award winning float coming down the main street in Minden during one of the Rotary parades. The summer carnival with its Western Days theme is on tonight and tomorrow night (Wednesday and Thursday).

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Members of Parliament carry a very serious responsibility to their constituents and to the House of Commons. We must represent the best interests of our constituents in the House of Commons and serve as representatives of the Federal Government in our constituencies. In order to do so properly there must be no doubt as to our intentions and sincerity.

In the few months of 1979 that the government of Joe Clark was in power, guidelines regarding conflict of interests were established for Members of the governing party and their staff. These guidelines caused some difficulty, as they were very rigid. What they accomplished was to ensure that not only were members and staff prohibited from making a financial gain out of their position but also that the public could see that their elected officials were expected to be acting solely for the benefit of the public.

Since 1980, it has become increasingly evident that no such guidelines are enforced by the current government. Several former Ministers have taken advantage of their positions and their friends in government to sponsor their private ventures. When asked if this did not constitute a conflict of interest Cabinet spokesmen said that after all there were no hard and fast rules only guidelines. It appeared the only thing that would convince them to enforce these guidelines is if a Member was convicted in a court of law.

In early July of this year, the government appointed the Honorable Mitchell Sharp and the Honorable Michael Starr to head a task force studying the problem of conflict of interest. I do not think they could have made better choices. Both these honorable gentlemen are above reproach. They have both served our country well as senior Ministers and their reputation for fairness is well known.

They have been given the responsibility of defining the best means to restore the confidence of Canadians in our federal institutions. I am somewhat concerned however that they may be being used as political pawns. I say this because they have been given quite a restricted mandate. They have been told that they are not to examine past questions of conflict of interests and that they must report by December 31. I hope this is not just a way of sweeping past discrepancies under the rug.

I wish this Task Force good luck and I urge the government to implement their recommendations rather than ignore them, as has been their habit in the past with such reports.

From the Chamber

Lazy Days and bob sleds

Those lazy, hazy days of summer have arrived at last in Haliburton County. The crowds in the towns seem to be larger by the day. As the heat in the big cities increases and more and more stores run out of electric fans more and more people are coming to cottage country. We can only hope that this heat wave lasts into August.

One way that people in Haliburton are coping with the heat is to go for a refreshing swim in the lake. Every day more and more people seem to be taking an opportunity to jump in the river.

An alternative way to keep cool is to find a good book and curl up with it under a large tree. A book that has recently come to our attention is the book "River of Life" by Joy Mackinnon Ballard. Ms. Ballard is the owner and operator of Heather House Gifts near Wilberforce. This book is a charming collection of poems and verse on various topics that will amuse and entertain almost anyone. Copies of the book are available at the Chamber office and at gift stores across the county.

One of the farthest things from anyone's mind in this hot weather seems to be winter sports. And yet, next Friday there will be a bobsled team in Minden. The Toronto Star devoted a half page in a recent issue to the Canadian select bobsled team which will be participating in the final mile of the Heineken Yard that famous road race that takes place during the last week in July. All proceeds from their participation go to the Canadian Select bobsled team for their challenge in the 1984 Winter Olympics at Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. It is rare that one gets to see bobsledding in Haliburton County and even rarer yet that one gets to see it in the middle of the summer.

To see and do

On July 29 at the Minden Library/Cultural Centre there will be a puppet show at 3 p.m. Among the plays being performed there will be Alladin's Lamp and Aesop's Fables by Deckhands Puppets.

The Women's Institute will be holding their bake and craft sale on August 5 at 10 a.m. on the Bank of Commerce lawn in Minden.

Continuing until the 31st is the annual show of the Haliburton School of Fine Arts Faculty at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. This wonderful show featuring painting, sculptures, fibre art, wood craft and metal work is on view from 11 to 5 on Tuesday to Saturday and from 1 to 4 on Sunday.

On July 28 the Muskoka Summer Theatre will be presenting "Fool's Paradise" a zany English comedy at the Haliburton Legion Hall. Tickets are $10 and are available at the Rails' End Gallery and at the door the night of the performance.

July 27 should prove to be a bazaar day. There'll be a bazaar and tea at Hall's Lake sponsored by Club 35 and the Minden UCW will be holding a bazaar and bake sale at the Minden United Church.

A very pleasant way to spend a hot summer day is by taking a walk in the woods. On July 27 you can spend the afternoon in the woods at the Leslie Frost Natural Resources Centre south of Dorset. This free program will be led by an interpreter who will explain how the forest around you has developed from an open field. If you are lucky you may even see some of the birds and beasts that inhabit the forests in Haliburton County. The program will begin at 1:30 and will last about two hours.

It is Carnival Time once again in Minden. The Minden Rotary Club annual Summer Carnival gets underway complete with a midway, dancing, beer garden, games of chance, and a huge parade through the village of Minden. One highlight of this will be the Heineken Yard, five mile foot race from Camp Onondaga to the Rockcliffe Hotel on Friday, July 29 at 4 p.m. Participating in the race will be the Canadian select bobsled team.

Old Time Horseshoe Days get underway in Gooderham on July 29 to 31. This annual carnival features a talent contest, demolition derby, bake sales, and dance all centered around a horseshoe pitching tournament. On Friday night there will be dancing to bluegrass music and on Saturday there will be dancing to big band music.

A good opportunity to buy some of the best baked goods this side of heaven will be at the Kinmount United Church on July 30 when Kinmount UCW hold their bake sale.

Three Wheel Racing will be found at the Minden Fair Grounds on Saturday, July 30 when Haliburton County Snowmobile Association presents three wheel racing in stock and modified classes. Racing on Ontario premier natural terrain ATV track will begin at 12:30 p.m. with registration beginning at 11 a.m. Admission is $2 and the entry fee is $5 per class.

The hills will be alive with sights and sounds of four wheel drive racing on July 30 and 31 at Bill's Hills near Wilberforce. There will be drag races on Saturday and obstacle and wheel to wheel races on Sunday. There will be an admission charge for this Ontario Four Wheel Drive Association sanctioned event.

Fun for every member of the family will be found during Dorset Pioneer Week July 30 to August 6. There will be flea markets, bake sales, displays, pancake breakfast, a baseball tournament, parade, barbeque, dancing, log rolling and much much more. All the proceeds from this week go to the Dorset Community Centre building fund. Further information can be found by calling Priscilla Lewis in Dorset at 766-2468.

Finally, the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden Cultural Centre will be holding their fourth annual art and craft show and sale featuring local arts and crafts from July 30 to August 17. The Gallery is open from ten to five Monday to Saturday.

All in all it is a very busy week in the County.

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

by ARLIN HACKMAN

Two years ago, Premier William Davis promised to establish a citizens' advisory committee to give the public a window on government decisions to exempt projects from the Environmental Assessment Act. The Act is a fine piece of paper which theoretically provides for public hearings into developments which might degrade the environment. But its potential remains largely untapped and unknown because only the escape clause has been used with regularity exempting such major controversial developments as the Darington Nuclear power station and Detour Lake highway.

In 1981 its stock was so low that the Provincial Transport Ministry simply ignored the Act in constructing Highway 404. Rallying to this offence, conservationists successfully prosecuted the Minister, then won the Premier's commitment to appoint a committee to "allow for public input before a government decision has been made" on exemption requests from project proponents.

Two years of unnecessary delay and still more exemptions followed, but on July 4, 1983, in one of his last acts as Environment Minister, the Honorable Keith Norton announced the establishment of the Ontario Environmental Assessment Advisory Committee. Its primary function is to review requests for exemptions paying particular attention to the reasons for the request, such as concern for public health and economic necessity.

Chaired by Toronto lawyer Marie Corbett, the committee also includes well-known environmentalist Monte Hummel, of Cookstown, and former Ontario Revenue Minister Lorne Maciek, of South River.

The committee itself has no formal power, only some general terms of reference from which to develop specific operating procedures. It does appear that committee members will have an opportunity to review all exemption requests before a government decision and that the advice they tender will be placed on public file by the Environment Ministry. However its not all clear in which cases the committee's review will be announced and open to public input, or how quickly its advice will be publicly available. So there are some basic questions left to answer in the months ahead. Very likely, the first few assignments which the committee undertakes will set precedents and therefore deserve special attention.

Realistically, the Davis government faces a real challenge in building public confidence in its environmental legislation and the committee alone is not nearly enough. But it marks one small promise kept and hopefully an important step towards keeping the much larger one made in 1975 when Ontario's pioneering Environmental Assessment Act was passed.

Letters

To the Editor:

Recently a mention was made, in the "Fair Play" column, of the Haliburton Nursing Mother's Support Group, which has created a rather negative impression of this group. Since much of the information given was incorrect, I would like to clarify the situation for your readers.

Our group is not "new"; we have been meeting for over 3 1/2 years for mutual support and to share information. We have certainly no lack of support; we all know that we are a part of a deeply caring community. The number of mothers (and babies) attending meetings varies greatly - as mothers we have lots of other responsibilities.

Anyone who is interested in breastfeeding is welcome to attend our meetings which are now held on the first Thursday of each month at 8:00 p.m. at CHACE (Lakeview Centre). For more information please phone 754-2255 or 754-3127.

Thank you for the opportunity to present our group as it is: caring, supportive people who understand that good mothering through breastfeeding can be a good foundation for a strong family.

Sincerely,
Caroline Bishop

To the Editor:

In recent months, The Easter Seal Society has received almost daily complaints about a current telephone solicitation being made in a number of Ontario communities for a "camp for crippled children." Callers complain of highpressure tactics bordering on harassment, and the inability of the telephone solicitors to answer basic questions about the organization they represent.

Most reputable charities - including The Easter Seal Society - do not resort to telephone solicitation in raising funds.

We would caution anyone to investigate carefully before agreeing to contribute to telephone appeals. A call to the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce should help donors decide which, if any, to support.

Yours sincerely,
Ian Bain

There was intense concentration as pitchers and batters duelled in the annual Haliburton Ladies softball tournament in Wilberforce over the weekend.

Guilford wins title at tournament

Marla MacNaull named MVP in final, Norland takes 'B' division

by LORI DEAN
The Haliburton County Ladies Softball league held a very successful tournament last weekend in Wilberforce. Twelve teams competed in the three day event. Those who competed had a great time and local fans had a chance to see some very good ball games.

In the "A" division West Guilford went home winners as they defeated Lindsay 13-10. In this game Marla MacNaull was named most valuable player.

In "B" Division Norland defeated Kellars of Bancroft 13-10. Karen Doherty was chosen for the MVP award.

Members of the executive would like to thank all of the local merchants who donated toward the food concession booth. Your kindness is very much appreciated. Also, to the local teams who worked so hard in the food booth, selling tickets and looking after the ball diamond, thank you. Minden Seniors, Wilberforce, West Guilford and Carnarvon a very special "thank you."

Local Action

In local action last week the Haliburton Juniors and Wilberforce IGA played an exciting game in Wilberforce last Wednesday night that ended in a 13-13 tie. The teams had the distinction of being the first teams to play under the newly intalled lights at the park.

The Juniors jumped into the lead in the first inning scoring five runs, one of which was a home run by Miriam Smith. Pam Iles was also on the hit parade scoring three runs. Cindy Ablett and Kris Storey had a good night at the plate for Wilberforce.

Sharing the mound for Haliburton was Marg Smith and Miriam Smith. Sue Musclow and Jo Olszewski were the pitchers for Wilberforce.

Earlier in the week Wilberforce got by the Haliburton Seniors by a 11-9 count. Haliburton took an early lead on runs by Nancy Maughan and Kim Roberts. Haliburton held the lead until the last inning when Gail Krupa and Jo Olszewski both belted home runs to win the game for Wilberforce.

Taking the loss for Haliburton was Nancy Maughan. The winner was Sue Musclow.

Deer draw Saturday

Hunters are reminded that the deadline for the Ontario antlerless deer tag draw is fast approaching. To be eligible for the draw, applications must be received by the Wildlife Branch, Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources at Queen's Park in Toronto by 5 p.m., July 29, 1983.

Application forms for the antlerless deer draw are attached to the resident's and farmer's deer licences available at licence issuers and some ministry offices.

A second deadline deer hunters must remember is August 31 when applications for the southern Ontario controlled deer hunts must be received by the ministry district offices organizing the hunts. Applications should be picked up from the same district offices after August 1, 1983.

For more information, deer hunters should consult the 1983-84 Summary of the Hunting Regulations or contact the Minden district office of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

A member of the Norland Nuggets lines up a pitch during a tournament in Wilberforce over the weekend. 12 teams took part in the event.

Lumbermen, Beachli tied for lead

Both teams have 10 wins, but Lumbermen have game in hand

Haliburton Lumber and Beachli Construction were tied for the lead at the end of play last week in men's recreational softball, but the Lumbermen had a game in hand.

Both teams have 10 wins so far this season, but the Lumbermen had registered on two losses as of Thursday night's action, while Beachli had three losses.

Curry Motors has a solid hold on third place with a 7-6 record. Haliburton Legion and the Kinsmen are bringing up the rear with only two wins each; but the Kinsmen have played two fewer games with nine losses to the Legion's 11.

The battle for top spot should continue to be a hot one as the season heads into its second last week.

Only two games were played last week, both on Thursday night.

In the opener, the Kinsmen took on Curry Motors and came up with a 1-0 win.

The motormen led off the inning with a single from Bernie Upton but he was thrown out at third on a later single from Rob Dennys to retire the side.

In the bottom half, the Kinsmen got Bill Mulholland on safely on an error, then took the lead as Dwight Sisson connected for an RBI single after Mulholland had stolen a base.

It was a quick start, but from that point neither team slipped up, holding each other scoreless for the next six innings. Fielding was the key to the tight play that ensued with both first basemen getting a lot of opportunity to test their skills. No one managed to put more than one man on base before outs retired the side, and the Kinsmen hung on for the single run win.

Beachli Construction 6, Legion 3

The second match-up of the night was a more exciting contest, pitting the consistently tough Beachli builders against the Legion.

Dave Nicholls got on safely in the Beachli first after an error, and then Bob Nichol hit into a ground rule double.

John Wilson then connected on a Sid Cooper pitch for a home run that made the score three nothing for the builders.

Smallmouth bass from Basshaunt Lake in Guilford Township were tested for mercury. Those from 25 to 30 cm long (10 to 12 inches) may be eaten without restriction, while those up to 45 centimetres or 18 inches should not be eaten more than once a week over the long term, or by women of childbearing age or children under 15.

Neither team could add anything in the second, third or fourth frames despite errors, walks and singles.

Dave Nicholls got another for the builders in the top of the fifth as he put the ball out of the park for a solo homer.

The Legion was shut out in the bottom half, but also managed to hold the Beachli hitters scoreless in the top of the sixth.

In the bottom of the sixth, Sid Cooper got on with an error at first, Lyle Sawyer also advanced on an error, then Stuart Baker hit a single that brought Cooper across for the Legion's third run.

The seventh was a productive inning for the builders as they added two more runs on a triple by Duff Mitchell, an error in right field that put Wayne Speicher on, a sacrifice fly by Dave Nicholls and a double by Bob Nichol.

Beachli managed to hold off the Legion in the bottom half to assure their 6-3 win.

Former Leaf to study minor hockey problems

Former Toronto Maple Leaf star Syl Apps has been appointed to explore the organizational difficulties facing amateur hockey in the Province of Ontario.

Apps began the task last Monday, July 18, and will make recommendations to Tourism and Recreation minister Reuben Baetz by September 30.

Baetz said that as a former Minister of the Crown and a past great hockey player with the Toronto Maple Leafs, Apps "has earned the respect of everyone involved with minor hockey. He is a fine mediator who will surely provide recommendations that will lead to the positive development of hockey in this province."

Baetz said that while he has been "mindful" of problems facing amateur hockey, he has been "very reluctant, until now, to pursue direct intervention into some of these concerns."

"The Government's role in amateur hockey is to provide funding and leadership for the continued development and welfare of the sport. We do not wish to be involved in the day-to-day affairs of any sport, only assured that the sport is providing opportunities for every resident who wishes to participate, whether on a recreational or competitive level," Baetz said.

Apps said he is eager to take on the assignment, which will involve discussions with dozens of amateur hockey officials to determine common grounds for a future arrangement.

The major amateur hockey associations in Ontario are the Metropolitan Toronto Hockey League, the Ontario Hockey Association, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, the Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association, the Ontario Women's Hockey Association, the Ottawa and District Hockey Association, and the Ottawa and District Minor Hockey Association.

Apps, 68, played for the Toronto Maple Leafs from 1936 to 1948, save for two years during which he fought in World War II. He is a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame with 423 career points in 423 NHL games.

Apps served as athletic commissioner from 1946 to 1948 and was elected to the Ontario Legislature in 1963. In his 12 years as an MPP representing Kingston and the Islands, Apps spent three as Minister of Correctional Services.

Area fish tested for mercury

Fish from five area lakes were tested by Ministry of the Environment scientists recently as part of an on-going program to assess contaminants in sport fish.

Smallmouth bass from Basshaunt Lake in Guilford Township were tested for mercury. Those from 25 to 30 cm long (10 to 12 inches) may be eaten without restriction, while those up to 45 centimetres or 18 inches should not be eaten more than once a week over the long term, or by women of childbearing age or children under 15.

No larger fish were available for testing.

Speckled trout from Blue Rock Lake in Monmouth Township were tested for Mercury, PCB, Mirex and Pesticide, and were found to be completely free of hazardous contamination.

Lake trout in Clinto Lake in McClintock Township underwent testing for the same chemicals and contaminants and were found to be safe.

Smallmouth bass up to 18 inches long from Duck Lake in Minden Township were safe for unrestricted consumption, while larger fish should not be eaten more than once a week in the long term.

White suckers were snagged in Tedious Lake in Guilford Township, and showed no appreciable contamination from mercury, PCB, Mirex or Pesticides.

Booklets entitled "Guide to Eating Ontario Sport Fish", outlining the facts about fish contamination and the resultant health implications are now available from local offices of the ministries of the Environment and Natural Resources and in northern Ontario, the Ministry of Northern Affairs. For information concerning specific waterbodies and fish species, these local offices should be contacted.

The Ontario Government is continuing to sample fish from many lakes throughout the Province. As further information on additional waterbodies becomes available, listings will be made available.

Dixie Lee wins at Bracebridge

by JIM MILNE

The Dixie Lee soccer team defeated Bracebridge Centennials 3-2 in a game in Bracebridge last Sunday. This is the second win in a row for the local team and avenges their loss in their home opener May 29.

Tim Davies played a great game, scoring all three of Dixie Lee's goals by outrunning defenders to the ball. A very speedy Dixie Lee forward line often put pressure on slower Bracebridge defenders. The Dixie Lee defenders benefitted from a measure of good luck and the steady goaltending of Andy Shapiera.

An exhibition game planned for Minden on Thursday, July 28 has been cancelled but a second exhibition game against the Peterborough Marauders will be played in Haliburton on Sunday, July 31, probably at 3:00 p.m.

Summer a hardship for bass in area lakes

Fishing for bass is a popular pastime in the Haliburton Highlands. On most summer evenings, local lakes are dotted with small boats anchored in quiet coves. And if an angler is persistent enough, he or she will usually land something big enough to eat.

Although angling success suggests that there are plenty of bass to go around, the fish don't always have an easy time in their struggle to survive, as the following story, from the Algonquin Park newsletter 'The Raven', explains.

Hardship

Most people view the summer as a very easy season for animals. It does seem reasonable, after all. Temperatures are high, food is abundant, and there are long hours of daylight to be devoted to foraging and the raising of young.

And yet, the truth is that life can be very difficult in the warm season and that some animals are pushed to the limits of their tolerance by adverse summer conditions. A good example of this is the smallmouth bass.

It may seem rather odd that a fish, and particularly the smallmouth bass, is a summer hardship case. If anything, fish would appear to be better protected against the extremes of the outside world than most animals, and the smallmouth bass is usually cited as an especially noteworthy success story in Algonquin Park. Smallmouths, not originally found in Algonquin, were introduced to many of the lakes along what is now Highway 60 back in the early years of this century. In contrast to most attempts to establish alien animals outside their normal range, the introductions of smallmouth bass were quite successful. Today, decades later, many lakes such as Smoke, Cache and Opeongo have very significant smallmouth populations and angling for these fish is an important summer pastime for many people.

Missing

So, in what sense, then, can it be said that the smallmouth bass is being pushed to the limits of its tolerance by summer conditions? If you are a bass fisherman, you will know that the quality of smallmouth fishing can vary tremendously. Some years it could hardly be better and then, just a summer later, it can collapse almost completely. Generally speaking, such collapses occur when all the three-year old fish (which often constitute the bulk of the catchable fish -- at least in heavily fished lakes) are "missing" from the lake. This means, of course, that something either prevented the bass from reproducing three years earlier or has wiped out the fish produced that year before they got big enough to be caught. This is rather mysterious because what that "something" might be is not immediately obvious.

In fact, if you look at the life cycle of the smallmouth bass, it seems that they should do rather well. Unlike trout which spawn in the fall and then require all winter for the eggs to develop, smallmouth bass spawn in June. The warm water means that the eggs develop much faster and are therefore exposed to predators for a much shorter time. In fact, bass eggs hatch in only four to ten days and, what's more, they are fiercely guarded by their fathers during all this time. The paternal care also continues after the young emerge (about 2000 per nest) and only breaks down when the young disperse away from the shallow spawning shoals

Big fish entries impressive this year

The "Molson" Big Fish Contest has already produced some exceptional entries for the 1983 fishing season. The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters are celebrating the 25th anniversary of this prestigious competition.

A whopping 33 pound 8 ounce lake trout from Temagami Lake was entered in the regular category. In the rainbow division, an 18 pounder from Shelter Valley Creek was entered.

A new dimension to sport fishing has been added with the new "live release" category. Several entries to the lake trout "live release" category have been received, but very few entries have been submitted to most of the other eight "live release" categories. This increases your odds of winning in this division, so send them in. So far the largest laker (released back into Trout Lake) was 39 inches long with a 24-inch girth.

The top entries in 18 different categories will win $150 in cash from Molson's, plus an Evinrude electric fishing motor, plus a Mitchell reel and matching rod. Second and third place winners in the 18 categories will win $100 and $50 respectively in cash from Molson's plus a Mitchell rod and reel combination. Fourth to fifteenth place winners in the 18 categories will win a Mitchell rod and reel combination. There will be 270 winners overall for this year's contest.

Each entry received in one of the following nine categories, and those reaching the minimum length or weight requirements listed below, will receive a personalized commemorative 25th anniversary Michael Dumas print.

Largemouth Bass - 5 pounds or 20 inches; Northern Pike - 15 pounds or 40 inches; Walleye - 8 pounds or 28 inches; Rainbow Trout - 6 pounds or 24 inches; Salmon (Coho and Chinook) - 12 pounds or 29 inches; Maskinonge - 20 pounds or 45 inches; Lake Trout - 15 pounds or 32 inches; Speckled Trout - 3 pounds or 19 inches.

Entries must be submitted within 30 days of catching your big fish to be eligible to win.

Angling success has been very high around the province, and all indications are that it will continue to be good -- so make every effort to get out and enjoy fishing with friends or family members. Entry forms are available at most tackle shops, lodges and taxidermists, or directly from The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, P.O. Box 28, Peterborough, K9J 6Y5.

OFAH angry at spill

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters has made three demands of the Ontario government as a result of the recent chemical spill on the Spanish River west of Sudbury. Apparently a spill at the E.B. Eddy plant near Espanola killed all the fish in a 30-mile stretch of the popular sports fishing waterway.

As Ontario's largest provincial conservation organization (40,000 members) the OFAH doesn't take pollution lightly. Led by OFAH immediate past president, Doug Ogston, members of the Federation's local club surveyed one side of just one mile of the affected water and found over 1,000 dead sports fish including walleye in the 9-pound range, musky, bass, and pike. Not counted were multitudes of smaller fish and fish which had sunk to the bottom of the mucky river.

The Federation estimates that the lower river's total fish population of 50,000 to 100,000 fish has been completely wiped out.

In separate letters to Alan Pope, Ontario Minister of Natural Resources, and Andy Brandt, Ontario Minister of the Environment, Federation president Jim Hook has insisted that: Charges be laid under the Fisheries Act of Canada and any other appropriate legislation; that the company pay all costs of completely rehabilitating the river as quickly as humanly and technologically possible, and that MNR supervise that rehabilitation; and that measures be undertaken at and near the plant so that future spills are not possible, and the MOE supervise such remedial and preventative measures.

Senior League

by BERT HARRISON
Well folks its still so awfully hot, I don't know if I can write or not. Rev. Burgess family is still on holiday, but don't worry John, the service Sunday night was conducted just right when the Thompsons took it on.

Mary Oliver has gone to Toronto, to have the doctors see if they can do something to help her painful knee. Alfred Richardson has gone to visit his daughter in law for a few days. We surely miss Alfred when he is away.

We watched three movies Monday night, they were quite grand, "The Fraser River," "City Port" and "Changing Greenland". A group of young people from different countries came to Hyland Crest, thinking the old timers could answer their requests. To do this we sure did our best. The forests were cleared by men wearing jeans who lived on sow belly, potatoes and beans. They went to the woods with axes and saw and a quid of tobacco rolled up in their jaw. They cleared enough land to build a log shack and kept on clearing and never looked back.

Doris took all in the bus so they could see at a glance how much Minden had advanced. Up to the White Water at the foot of Horse-shoe, to the Minden Dam and Rotary Park too, up to Pikes Peak and to the fairgrounds, so we really showed them around.

Tuesday morning Rev. Westhaver of Minden United Church held a very interesting service in the chapel. He told how the doctors said this person had died; they could get no pulse or heart beat, no matter how they tried. The dead man was having a real experience, talking with his saviour, when he awakened he had this strange story to tell and all was well.

On Tuesday afternoon about one o'clock Doris took us in the bus to Kirkfield lift locks. Linda came along, Fred and Beth Parker too. Without the help of these dear friends what would we ever do? To some of the residents this was something new and as we watched, we saw two boats go through.

Amelia Good and Olive Hamilton had birthdays the same day. Amelia told how many years but Olive didn't say. Mark Schell is back from holidays. I asked if he caught any fish or not and he said "he didn't try, the weather was too hot."

All here were saddened when we learned of the passing of Leslie McGuire. Our deepest sympathy to his wife and family.

Thursday morning at Fun and Fitness, playing bucket ball Viola Deumo made the highest score of all. Thursday afternoon, the ladies from Lutterworth Pines served a tea party that was really fine, stayed and washed the dishes, did a good job too. If we didn't have these teaparties we would be rather blue.

Our entertainers came again on Friday. Grace to lead the singing and Norma came to play. It was such a lovely afternoon, Norma walked all the way. Grace always has poems and songs that always give us a thrill. We hope they keep coming, we're sure that they will.

Some of our residents went to Stanhope field day. We didn't go, I would just be in the way. I am crippled up you see with stiffening joints and water on the knee.

The Robertson sisters went to a Blue Grass "doo". Will they come in Monday morning looking rather blue?

The Best Treasure. There are veins in the hills where jewels hide and gold lies buried deep. There are harbour towns where the great ships ride and fame and fortune sleep. But land and sea though we tireless rove and follow each trail to the end, What ever the wealth of our treasure trove, the best we shall find is a friend.

Watch for motorcyclists

The Ontario Safety League reminds motorists that motorcycle drivers are given the same privileges as motorists and are subject to the same 'rules of the road.' Watch for the motorcycle and treat it like any other vehicle -- give it room. Watch for mopeds, bicycles and motorcycles when making both right and left turns. At intersections, remember that a moped is a slow-accelerating vehicle -- some models must be pedalled before they gain speed and might also prove a little wobbly at this point. Be particularly careful of the two wheel driver when train and streetcar tracks are present. Negotiating tracks is a hazardous operation with these vehicles -- don't crowd them. And when parking on a street, double check for bicycles, mopeds and motorcycles before opening your door.

Research into motorcycle accidents indicates that in most crashes involving an automobile, the driver of the automobile is at fault. In most instances, the car is making a left turn in front of the motorcycle when the collision occurs.

The Muskoka Festival Touring Company treated the audience at the Haliburton Legion last Thursday night to a lively and highly professional performance of the musical The Fantasticks. They will repeat the show this Thursday night. For details contact the Rails' End Gallery.

Local seniors given grant

A group of retired people from Haliburton will receive a New Horizons grant for $28,663, from the federal government.

Haliburton County Home Support Services will use the money to furnish and equip a drop-in and resource centre at the former municipal garage on Maple Street. The new facility will serve as a resting place, meeting place, volunteer training centre, classroom and information resource centre.

Life's Road

As we travel along life's thorny way, we meet many others every day. How do they feel after we have passed by? Do they feel more happy or want to cry?

Many are carrying burdens unknown, each of us seems to walk alone.

So every time we walk down the street let us give a smile to those we meet.

Let a sarcastic word not be said, let us keep those words to ourselves instead.

So when at last the day draws to an end, we will know that we helped to cheer a friend.

Moonshadows

Beware as strange moonshadows move,
Flickering in the slightest breeze
To writhe, and coil, and climb
On waiting trunks of trees.

A rock, a stump, tall clump of grass,
Featureless in deep of night,
Well-rooted, solid, should not pass
Nor move, nor cause me fright.

Those prone tree roots, entangled form,
How strangely twisting seem to be
And horrid, not the patterned norm
That daylight had disclosed to me.

The silence seems near ominous,
Then rustlings strange instill a fear
Unwarranted, perhaps, and yet
Seduce my quivering, listening ear.

That rock, it's slowly changing shape.
This cannot be, how could it move
When finally I had it fixed
Into a pattern I could prove.

Let moonlight show on all shapes here,
White wraiths of clouds, move on.
'Twas fantasy moonshadows made,
And in the light, all fear has gone.

Oxygen and Love

We know so much about the heart anatomically. We also know it beats through life automatically. We know the happy warmth it feels when someone loved is near. And how poignant is the aching, should that someone disappear.

To pump through life, of oxygen the heart has constant need. It's carried in blood through arteries which cardiac muscles feed. But the heart has need of something more to make our lives worthwhile. Love and consideration and sometimes a tender smile.

Doctors can, with medicines, the heart in action keep. But haven't yet discovered why some things can make it leap; The sound of the voice, the sight of the face, or just the touch of the hands Of someone who cares about us and the needs of our heart understands.

Old hearts can be full of memories of the happy days back when. Feel warm and thrill and leap with joy just as they did then. All hearts can fantasize and dream and plan for years ahead As long as both with oxygen and love they're always fed.

White pine to be official tree

Not many trees ever gain celebrity status. But for one species all that could change during Ontario's bicentennial celebrations next year.

The tree slated for the limelight is the white pine, known scientifically as Pinus strobus -- once one of Ontario's most common species. Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope said recently that he intends to introduce legislation naming the white pine the province's official tree starting in 1984.

White pine, which grows naturally in the most populated areas of Ontario, has a special historical significance. The British Royal Navy made ship masts from it, and the export of white pine timber from Ontario was a major source of income during the province's first 50 years. Early settlers used white pine extensively for shelter, furniture, tools and even toys. Since then, it has continued to be used as a preferred forest product and is admired as a distinctive part of the Ontario landscape.

Pope said Ontario will be the first province to have an official tree. The initial move to find one began in 1980 with a proposal by the late James Auld to the Ontario Forestry Association when Mr. Auld was Natural Resources Minister.

He said that he believed a significant cottage industry producing carvings and mementoes could be developed from this tree of "outstanding and characteristic beauty."

Snowdon gets grant to repair riverbank

Snowdon Township will receive a grant of $15,000 under the Canada-Ontario Employment Development Program.

The five people hired, limited to those whose unemployment insurance benefits have run out, will install gabion baskets filled with stone to fight erosion of the Burnt River bank.

The township will contribute $3,750 to the overall $18,750 cost of the project.

The five jobs, lasting an average 13 weeks, will commence in September.

Congratulations to Elsie Chamberlain of RR3, Kirkfield upon her Jackpot bingo win of $270 at the Kirkfield Lions Community Centre, Tuesday, July 19.

Two items of tools worth around $300 were put out for garbage collection in error some time ago and the owners then went on a trip for some weeks. Upon returning the tools were needed for a job and it was only then that the mistake was discovered. With nothing to lose, the garbage collector was asked, just on the off chance he may have seen the tools. He said yes, they had been kept in the truck cab just in case someone reported them missing and this was after a two month period. Mr. and Mrs. Percy would like to thank our trash pickup men for doing such a good job and now also for their honesty. There are still lots of good people in the world!

Bill Jr., Jason and I went to Toronto last Wednesday where Bill had business with his doctor to attend to. Following that visit we now expect Bill to go into hospital once again early in August. We visited with Bonnie Walker in her Weston apartment for awhile before coming home and believe us, something or someone has to be in one of the elevator shafts. Anyone we spoke to complained of the stench which has been permeating the premises for over a week. As the building, at the moment, is without a "super" nothing has been done. I say, if something isn't done soon, the building will be without more than the super. On our way home we stopped for a snack and walked in and around a very small, very old cemetery. People in there had been born in the seventeen hundreds and most of them had been very young at their death.

I was told of three fires that occurred last Thursday, July 21. One on highway 503 when a tree fell against wires, a second was a grass-fire near Norland and the third was between Fenelon Falls and Kinmount.

Sympathy at this time to family and friends of Jim Davey who died Wednesday, July 20 following a heart attack the previous Sunday.

Tuesday afternoon, July 19, "grannie" Carefoot entertained Dr. R.A. Ward and Cindy Walker who are to be wed later this month, Betty Boland, Barbara Magee and Mary Gillam. Luncheon was served and the tea table was graced with a beautiful lace tablecloth made by "grannie". The young couple were gifted by grannie with one of her lovely hand crocheted lace doilies which will always be a treasure to them. What an enjoyable afternoon. God bless her.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boland of White Lake Road this past week was Dr. R.A. Ward, a nephew of Betty and Bill and Dr. Ward's fiancée Cindy Walker. They are both from Calgary, Alberta. Mr. and Mrs. Andy Magee of Leamington also stopped for awhile on their return trip from Ottawa. While there a beautiful steak barbecue was served with all the trimmings with lots to eat, drink and plenty of laughs.

While Bill and Jason Moss were in Ottawa over the holiday weekend they visited a number of places of interest and saw the beautiful fireworks display put on for Canada Day. Bill says he'd like to go back next year and would recommend recommend it to everyone. Jason, on the otherhand was concerned with what Mr. Trudeau might say because a lot of people were sitting on his front lawn.

Marie Wallace of the Haliburton Home Support Services along with her father visited at the home of Vi Cooke, in Irondale, on Thursday, July 21, to celebrate the birthday of both Vi and Marie's father on the same day when they each became an octogenarian. Happy birthday to both of you. Later, Vi's son Fred, his wife Donna and sons Jamie and Jason came by from Cobourg bringing a torte along with them to help in the celebration.

I enjoyed the tupperware party held at the home of Ron and Shirley Newman, RRI, Coboconk, on Thursday, July 21.

Happy birthday to Wayne Smith, son of Dora and Bill Lilley on Saturday, July 23. Wayne and his wife Carol were spending the weekend with his parents at Norland. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Sunderland were guests of Bill and Dora Lilley one day last week.

Pat and Elaine's Bake Shop was a bustling place last Saturday morning what with the huge oven full of pies, tarts, cakes, muffins and so on all sitting on tables cooling and bread rising all over the place. My dear husband says I only make one mistake when making bread and that's when I get the flour out. I can bake just about anything except when it comes to bread. I make the best house bricks in town. I'm a failure as a Newfoundland!

By the way, TJ's is now expanding their cuisine to include chops, steaks and a daily special which one day last week was lasagna.

For the pickling season ahead here's a recipe that doesn't sound too complicated and may be nice through the winter. "Spiced Cucumber and Onion Slices: Equal quantities of cucumber and onion. Use cucumbers about one to one and one half inches in diameter. Cut cucumber and onions in 1/2 inch slices and sprinkle with salt, let stand overnight. Drain and wash in cold water. Chill if possible. Make the following syrup: two cups vinegar, one teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, one tsp. cinnamon, one tsp. mustard, 1/2 tsp. ginger. Boil together two minutes. Add cucumbers and onions, cook ten minutes. Pack in sterilized jars. Seal while hot.

Stay well and happy, remember our shut ins and be here next week. I can be reached at 488-2353 if you catch me when I'm home!

To Nellie Chynoweth of Norland, who has been in hospital we wish her comfort and rest as she battles her disease courageously. We think of you so often Nellie. We who are well may complain of the current heat, wave but truly we are blessed - because we are not on a hospital bed, and can truly enjoy our great outdoors, bugs and all!

If you are a Brohm, or a relative in any way, my young sister has planned a reunion for August 20 in Balsam Lake Provincial Park. Watch for advertisement in this paper later. She has worked hard on the family tree and would love to meet each of the over 700 names she has so far.

Mrs. Frances Nesbitt enjoyed a motor trip to Northern Ontario with son, Ron and family of St. Thomas. She says everything is green and there are lots of blueberries to ripen up towards Cobalt and Kapusasing; so different from our burnt crisp lawns.

Don't forget Gooderham Horseshoe Days - July 29 - 31 at the Community Centre. The three days are crammed with fun for the whole family

- horseshoe pitching tournament, tug-of-war, demolition derby, talent contest, dancing, concessions and much more!

On July 21 at 10 a.m. the Deckhands from Kingston presented two puppet shows at the Glamorgan Library. This talented trio comprised Lisa Madore, Gwen Bailey, and Sean Hayes. "Aladdin" or "The Wonderful Lamp" and "Aesop's Fables" were the two plays this versatile group presented. However they were somewhat modernized; for example: when the lamp was rubbed and the genie appeared, a Harley-

Davidson, instead of jewels, was requested. In the "Hare and Tortoise" of Aesop's Fables, the tortoise (turtle) was going to the garage for "turtle wax."

The Deckhands involved the children in the action to their delight. Of the 23 present, there were several adults who seemed to enjoy the entertainment very much.

"The mystery of love is that the more love you give, the more remains in your heart."

I guess we can never say thank you enough for the privilege of having such a beautiful clean lake at our fingertips, or to tips, to jump into to cool off, in this continuous hot weather. I'm afraid there is going to be a shortage of raspberries due to the shortage of rain, or total lack of it, for such a long period. I know that mine are just wizened up, with a few little ripe ones. This will cut down, if not eliminate raspberry pies at the summer bake sales. Too bad, as everyone, especially the summer visitors look forward to munching on them.

This column is going to appear egocentric as it mostly refers to me. Maybe it will inspire some response from the local citizens and they will supply me with some other news.

I had a visitor today from Preston, Cambridge, who receives the Bracebridge Gazette at home, and follows the Dorset News. Mr. Alfred Schultz and his sister Dorthea have been spending their summer holidays in the Baysville area for some years, but this year decided to come to Dorset, and are at the Holiday Heaven for a couple of weeks. They had decided that when they came to Dorset, they would look up the writer of the Dorset column, so I was happy to meet my readers from so far away.

The Lions Bingo continues on Monday and Thursday evenings at 8 p.m. at the Dorset Community Centre.

There are a great number of visitors in the area. I have had a few myself. Mrs. Jean Jones, of Scarborough, an old friend, spent some time with me the middle of the month. While she was here we took a trip out to Yearley to see my brother-in-law, Bill Hawn, did a lot of swimming and toured the gift shops in the area. My nephew, Lloyd McKee, his wife May, their daughter Kelly Brown, another couple, Simon and Carol VanderVort, arrived from Hespeler the first of last week. Once again the lake was the most popular spot about. Simon had a snorkel and loaded the dock with old shoes, bottles etc. off the bottom of the lake, we had lots of laughs at some of the pieces of Flotsam, or I sit jetsam. The younger people had to get back home but Lloyd is going to stay for at least the beginning of Pioneer Week.

I had a very lovely surprise last Sunday. After the morning service I was escorted by one of the wardens to the Sunday School room where, as a total surprise to me there was a beautifully decorated cake, and the minister, Father Ray Porth, said some lovely words about me. I was presented with a battery, electric radio, and lots of hugs and kisses, a beautiful card and there was a lovely message on the cake. This was all for the fact that I have played the organ for many years and done other odds and ends around the church. I don't think I really earned all the adulation but it was very enjoyable and the people responsible were extremely kind and thoughtful. There were delicious sandwiches and coffee for the large congregation present.

H.H. When grating cheese, put the grater in a plastic bag and grate the cheese into it. No mess, no extra bowl to wash and the bag is useful for storing the cheese.

"A cat is a miniature jaguar that loves mice, hates dogs and patronizes people."

What a long spell of beautiful holiday weather we have had, but not enough rain for the gardens, so everyone is kept busy with the watering can and garden hose, trying to keep flowers and vegetables from drying out and withering up. I think one and all would enjoy a good all night, steady rainfall. Let's just hope and pray for some precipitation to cool things down a bit and refresh the growing things. We have had some beautiful sunsets recently, to add to the majestic grandeur of the local scenery.

We had an aeroplane tie up at our dock last week. A couple from Toronto, who have a summer place in the Glenmount area came into Dorset to do some shopping and found the water too rough to tie up at the town dock, so directed the craft back to our area and asked permission to tie up here. We were happy to oblige, but wished that they had been acquaintances come to visit.

The annual arts and crafts show and sale put on by the Dorset Community Centre, planned and irected by Mrs. Leon McKee, is this coming Saturday, July 23 starting at 10 a.m. This is an excellent display of the various creations of the artists and craftsmen in the area. There will be many artisans demonstrating their work, to mention a few, canoe making; fine wood carving; weaving; and many others, as well as numerous articles for sale, oil paintings, pottery, stained glass, woven articles, carved birds and many, many others. It is worth a visit, just to wander around and luxuriate in the creativity of it all. There will be a collection at the door for the community centre building fund.

A very pretty wedding took place in Knox United church at 3:30 on Saturday, July 9 when Barbara Ellerington was united in marriage to David Lawson of Toronto. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ellerington of Dorset. Rev. Kim Wright officiated. The reception was held at Hidden Valley resort, and the happy couple will reside in Toronto.

The send-off dinner for Dorset Pioneer Week, which is being held from July 30-August 6, was held in a huge tent, set up by the fire hall, across from the community centre on Saturday, July 9. It was well attended, and the King and Queen for the occasion, Ellen and Orrie Avery were officially proclaimed. Sandy Ailles was M.C. and sportscaster, Wayne Kooyman, from the Kitchener T.V. station was on hand to say a few words and present the Queen with a beautiful bouquet of red roses and the King with a boutonniere. There were a number of ladies dressed in period costume, and after a sumptuous dinner there was dancing to the music of Jeff Avery. During the head table proceedings, Marcella McKay and a gentleman from California gave an amusing explanation of how a box lunch social functions, as this is to be one of the activities during pioneer week. There were many laughs among the audience as they told of the conniving that went on in order that a gentleman could get a certain girl's lunch box, as of course, this included the girl as a supper companion. The affair was a colorful event and a vote of thanks to all who worked so hard to prepare it, and especially to Lion George Green, from Parry Sound the chef.

H.H. Its wise these hot summer days when you go shopping, to keep a styrofoam cooler in your trunk, and put in a frozen ice pack before you leave home, to keep perishables cool.

Waterway News

Dry conditions similar to the summer of 1975 continue to prevail over Southern Ontario. Watersheds of the Trent and Severn rivers are reacting in the same manner as in that year as well, to the high evaporation rates. Storage water in Haliburton Lakes has declined about 4.5 per cent from July 11 to 79.5 per cent on July 18. This level is about one per cent lower than the 1970-78 average for the date.

As a matter of historical note the Trent-Severn records show that the stored water in these lakes amounted to only some 53 per cent on this date in 1958 and 41 per cent the same date in 1931. Present conditions are certainly not the driest we have seen.

Kawartha Lake's levels are now (July 22, 1983) being allowed to decline a few centimeters into their respective navigation ranges as the summer progresses. This along with the minimum discharge being allowed to leave the Kawarthas down the Otonabee River, are about the only measures available to mitigate the draw of reservoir water. Reservoir flows have been increased again this week as well to partially match the losses being sustained.

Norland Natter

by KELLY GRAHAM
Well, it looks as if this heat wave is about to finally break, to my dismay. I, unlike most people, am appreciating the heat. I think it's great tanning weather. My sympathy to the friends and family of Jim Davey, of Norland, who passed away recently. Jim, who worked in the Four Seasons' restaurant and drove a school bus, will be greatly missed by all who knew him. The number one song on 1050 for the week starting

Friday, July 15, was Electric Avenue by Eddy Grant. There will be a hockey dance at the Norland Community Hall on Friday, August 6. Although I don't have quite all the details the price will be eight dollars. I will have the details next week. The winner of Shirley Harrison's latest Wintario ticket was Ruth Arkwright. Remember, if you buy your Wintario tickets at Pine 'n Patches be sure to turn your non-winning ones in there. It may just pay off for you like it did for Ruth. Some of you may remember Marlene Epps, who used to live in this area. She is now Marlene Dolan and her husband Paul, their three children, Aaron, Joshua, and Jeffrey, and herself are presently camping in the area. The features playing at the Highlands Cinema in Kinmount on July 28 and 29 are Robin Hood (6:30, family) and Tootsie (8:00 adult accompaniment). The euchre scores for Thursday, July 21 were as follows, ladies high, Debbie Gostlin; men's high, Joe England; lone hands, Flo Penrose.

Having just returned from Coboconk I see things are being set up for the annual Coby fair. It looks as if the weather will be good for the first day although they are predicting showers for day two.

Well, that's all for this week. Remember, you can reach me at 454-3707.

Carnarvon News

Visitors in Peterborough in the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Stan Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Max McKay, Mr. M.B. Windsor and Garth Windsor. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Farrell and three daughters of Barrie have spent the past two weeks with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Reilly.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore of Alliston were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McKay.

Laurie and Harold Tulk and son Mark of Petawawa spent five days with Laurie's parents Max and Anne Mc-Kay. Their grandson Michael of Thornhill will be staying with them for awhile.

The UCW held their annual sale on Saturday with a record turnout, most things being sold rather quickly. It was quite a successful morning.

Sympathy is extended to those who have lost loved ones during July - Mrs. Robt. Moore, Mrs. John Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Cowan of Blairhampton and Mrs. Don Elliott of Lutterworth Pines.

Mr. and Mrs. James Winn are honeymooning in Bermuda - the account of their wedding will appear later.

Mrs. Muriel Brown of Brantford is spending a few days calling on old friends here.

Blanche and Maurice Windsor have had nieces and nephews call to pay them a visit from Orangeville, Cobourg, Toronto, Trenton and Mississauga. They had all, as children, spent many happy hours at Mirror Lake and the cottage on Hawk. Now they have families of their own and like to reminisce. Five generations have used the cottage on Hawk.

Mrs. Irene Minaker is in Carnarvon for a few days. Carnarvon is still here but all the "for sale" signs would make some think otherwise.

Mrs. Lyle Harrison, who, each summer, leaves her home in California and spends a month in a cottage on Twelve Mile, is now here.

Doug and Arlene Cowan and children are here for two weeks' holidays.

Mrs. Mary McPhail of St. Williams, Ontario is spending a couple of weeks visiting with relatives.

Haliburton Highlights

We would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone and in particular some of our visitors that the beautiful park on the shores of Head Lake is there for the enjoyment of not only the local residents but for all the visitors who may be visiting our fair community. Please think about this the next time you have a picnic in this area and please don't get up and leave your debris scattered all over the grass. Please take time to pick up all of the papers that you want to leave behind and place them in the litter barrels that have been placed all over the park for your use. It's a beautiful park so let's keep it this way. If a few people had their way it would look something like a pig pen.

The Red Cross Swimming classes that have been held at the Rotary Beach during the month of July concluded on Friday. A good number of children took part in the swimming program this summer. The swimming program will continue at West Guilford for the month of August.

The members of the newly formed Haliburton Horticultural Society are to be commended on their efforts in keeping the flowers blooming in many key spots around the village. It's really nice to see the attractive flower boxes on display in front of most of the business places in the village. If you take the time to look around you will notice that flowers have been planted in various locations. It's not unusual to see the members working either in the daytime or in the evening trying to keep the flowers looking colorful and beautiful.

An advance notice here that Decoration Day at Evergreen Cemetery at Haliburton will be held on Sunday, August 7, 1983 with the service beginning at 2 p.m.

Some former residents and friends that we have noticed back on vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Ron Carnochan of Oshawa, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Carder and family of Mississauga, Mr. and Mrs. Don Downey of Eganville, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Austin of Huntsville, Jason and Anthony Biagi of Toronto, Mr. Murray Tripp of Toronto, Mrs. Lorna Ramsey of North Bay.

Sunday for the most part was a cloudy day in Haliburton but it didn't dampen the enthusiasm of those who turned out to see the Martin and Downes Circus who were here for a one day stand at the Ball Park. It was sponsored by the Haliburton and District Lions Club.

The members of the jRotary Club of Haliburton said a sad farewell to exchange student Rod, who left on Monday for Austin, Texas where he is finishing his high school and college education. Rod enjoyed his stay here and was most appreciative of his host families and says thank you.

The Sky Slider in Haliburton village is now two years old and it seems to be getting more popular each and every year. From what we can see the famous ride is having one of its busiest years. It really adds a great deal of excitement to the summer scene.

Haliburton Hockey Haven is in full swing and the boys who are attending the camp are working out daily at the arena in Haliburton. We understand that the Hockey Haven are also having a very busy summer. Professional hockey players are in attendance to show the young future hockey stars the finer points of the game.

Anyone in business who isn't having a good tourist season financially can't blame his troubles on the weather. Practically the entire month of July has just been beautiful and in other words what more can you ask for if you are on vacation. Let's hope that there's more nice days to come.

Just a reminder that the boys and girls 5-12 years old Bible Club is meeting at St. George's Anglican Church every day this week from 1:30 - 4

Just a reminder that the boys and girls 5-12 years old Bible Club is meeting at St. George's Anglican Church every day this week from 1:30 - 4:30 p.m. Songs, puppets, stories and quizzes.

The litter barrels at Head Lake Park have received a new paint job and they look very colorful in their bright shades of paint and the decals that have been painted on the sides of each barrel.

If you are a resident living here or just up on vacation remember to heed weather warnings before going out in your small craft. Being weather wise protects you and prevents others from risking their lives to rescue you. This is a Red Cross summer safety tip.

Summer can be hard on area bass

about three weeks later. The young spend the rest of their first summer feeding off on their own in deeper water and then, when cold temperatures arrive, they retreat to rock crevices and spend the winter hidden from predators in an inactive, non-feeding state.

Weather
Where is the weakness in this seemingly excellent system for getting young smallmouth bass started in life? Research carried out at several places in Ontario, including Harkness Laboratory on Lake Opeongo, has shown that, of all things, it has to do with the weather. When young-of-the-year smallmouth bass are in their winter hiding places, they don't eat anything at all and depend for survival on the food reserves they have built up during the summer. The bigger they are in the fall, the more food reserves they will have and the better their chances of making it through until spring. The catch is that, in a warm summer, the young bass are more active, feed more, and attain a greater size than in a cool summer -- to the point where summer weather is a major factor determining whether or not the young bass of a given year will survive their first winter.

There is another weather-related problem, as well. Bass start to spawn when the water temperature climbs above 15 degrees Celsius (or 60 degrees Fahrenheit) but, unfortunately, there is no guarantee that the temperature will stay above that mark. Short as the bass incubation period may be, there is always a chance that it will turn cold again or that a storm will push cold water into the newly warmed spawning shallows. Even if the cold doesn't kill all the eggs, the turbulence will and, in just a few hours, all the bass nests in the lake may be wrecked.

To be sure, the adults can spawn again and many do re-nest after such calamities. Nevertheless, the delay makes it correspondingly less likely that the young from the second nestings will have enough time, in what is

Clearly, the reproductive fortunes of smallmouth bass are in a real squeeze between late spring storms and cool summer weather and it gets worse and worse the farther north you go. Eventually, a point is reached beyond which the summers when bass can reproduce are so unusual that the fish just can't sustain themselves.

Although summers in the area are not that cool, from time to time all or most of a year's bass production is completely wiped out. As long as this doesn't happen too often, bass will be able, in their good summers, to add big batches of young bass to their population and they won't die out. If the climate were ever to turn a few degrees colder, however, bass would fail more often to reproduce than they succeeded and the brief era of smallmouth bass in Algonquin would come to an end.

Heat Unit Update
After five weeks of hot weather, a lot of farmers are wondering how many heat units have been accumulated.

We started the growing season with cold weather in May, receiving only 209 heat units at Lindsay, compared to an average of 349. The cold weather continued into early June. By the end of June we were still 120 heat units behind the average, having accumulated only 820 by then.

And in spite of the seemingly hot weather in July, we are still 100 heat units behind the average of Lindsay. As of Friday, July 22, we have accumulated 1337 corn heat units.

To calculate heat units, both the maximum and minimum temperatures are used. Contrary to expectations, when it gets too hot in the daytime - over 35 degrees Celsius, we actually have less heat units.

The problem in this area this year has been our rather cool nights. So far in July, we have only four nights with a minimum temperature of 20 degrees Celsius or over. Three nights the low was less than 10 degrees Celsius. To get the maximum effective heat for crops we need warmer nights in the weeks ahead.

HALIBURTON — MINDEN

Kiss an old flame goodbye.

We'd like you to take a minute now to think about something you'd really rather not think about. Home heating. Because right now is the perfect time to do something about next winter's oil bills.

If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, electricity is the answer. A dual-energy system combining oil and electricity will heat your home efficiently and economically.

For example, adding an electric plenum heater to your oil furnace will reduce the amount of oil you use by up to 75 per cent. While adding a heat pump will not only cut heating bills by 20 to 30 per cent, but also provide air conditioning in the summer, for efficient year-round comfort.

If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly, efficiently and economically.

Like to know more? Take a minute now and write to Ontario Hydro, Room U7 EL 700 University Avenue, Toronto M5G 1X6 and ask for our free booklet "Electric Heating Options for Your Home."

Because the minute you take now could add up to big savings come December.
